EZYTRAIL UNVEILS NEXT-GEN CARAVANS FOR AUSSIE TRAVELLERS

Ezytrail has kicked off the season with three fresh releases: the Winton 13, Ceduna 16 Twin, and Ceduna 16 Quad. Each is designed to meet the growing demand for compact, family-friendly, on and off-road-ready caravans.

"These models have been built with real feedback from our customers," says Scott Forbes, National Sales Manager at Ezytrail. "People want choice — whether you're looking for lightweight weekenders, a couple chasing off-grid freedom, or a family of five looking for space without compromising on handling. These vans answer that call."

Winton 13: Compact comfort

At just 13 feet, the Winton 13 is lightweight yet tough, offering multiple bedding options (double, king, or split singles), clever storage, and an efficient off-grid power setup. "It's small enough to get into tighter spots, but still has the luxury of a much larger van," Forbes explains.

Ceduna 16 Quad: Family ready

With four bunks — plus an optional fifth — the Ceduna 16 Quad is designed for growing families. An expandable dining area, modern appliances, and 750W solar with Gen2 Projecta power management make it practical on and off the grid. "Families told us they wanted a van that grows with them," Forbes says.

Ceduna 16 Twin: Space for two

For couples, the Ceduna 16 Twin delivers all the benefits of the Ceduna build without the bunks. Twin bedding, generous storage, and rugged off-road engineering make it ideal for extended adventures. "The Twin gives couples a space that feels practical and premium," Forbes says.

Like all Ezytrail vans, the new models are engineered for Australian landscapes, with heavy-duty chassis, superior suspension, and smart design. "Our customers don't want to be limited to caravan parks — they want the freedom to explore the country, and these models give them that freedom," Forbes adds.

Whether it's downsizing with the Winton 13, upgrading to the family-focused Ceduna 16 Quad, or choosing the Ceduna 16 Twin for couples, Ezytrail's latest lineup offers something for every stage of life. "These aren't just new models — they're part of our commitment to making caravanning more accessible, enjoyable, and adventurous for Australians," Forbes says.

The Desert Master Chassis | On The Move Caravans

At On The Move Caravans, strength, innovation, and performance come together in the Desert Master Chassis—a foundation designed to handle Australia's toughest conditions. Engineered with precision and built from premium materials, this chassis sets a new benchmark in durability and off road capability for modern caravans.

Built for the Outback

Australia's rugged tracks demand more than just a standard frame. The Desert Master Chassis has been developed to thrive in challenging environments, from the Gibb River Road to remote red dirt highways. Constructed from 550-grade automotive high-tensile steel, it delivers the strength needed for heavy loads without adding unnecessary bulk.

Laser-cut and CNC-folded, the chassis incorporates precision-formed swages that both reduce weight and increase rigidity. Compared to a conventional box tube chassis, this design achieves significant weight savings while maintaining superior strength. In fact, in the 6.3 model, the Desert Master Chassis is approximately 200kg lighter than traditional alternatives—helping to improve towing efficiency and handling.

Intelligent Design Features

Every element of the Desert Master Chassis has been considered for real-world performance. The deeper 170mm rails provide greater structural integrity, while the robust 200mm A-frame ensures stability and safety even on rough terrain. By combining depth and reinforcement, the chassis achieves optimal strength-to-weight balance.

In addition, the chassis is perforated to accommodate service lines and reduce excess weight. This forward-thinking design not only makes maintenance easier but also improves balance and distribution across the caravan. The result is a platform that is as practical as it is tough.

Water tanks are integrated into the suspension to keep mass low and central for superior handling.

Strength Meets Innovation

The Desert Master Chassis isn't just about durability—it's about innovation tailored to Australian travellers. By combining advanced engineering techniques with high-performance steel, On The Move Caravans has created a chassis that stands the test of time. It offers the confidence to go further, knowing your caravan is supported by one of the strongest and smartest foundations on the market.

Experience the Desert Master Difference

For adventurers who demand more from their caravan, the Desert Master Chassis delivers unmatched performance. Whether tackling harsh corrugations, climbing steep grades, or exploring remote destinations, this chassis provides the strength, stability, and reliability you need.

At On The Move Caravans, we believe the journey should be as enjoyable as the destination. With the Desert Master Chassis beneath you, every adventure is built on strength.
